

About the unit

In this unit children learn to greet others, say how they are and introduce themselves. They begin to respond to and ask questions about name and age. They discuss linguistic diversity within their class. They understand that Portuguese is spoken in Portugal and elsewhere.

Where the unit fits in

This is a suitable unit for introducing the teaching of Portuguese. It encourages children to listen attentively to new sounds and to start to make sound and spelling links. It reinforces opportunities for children to work cooperatively.

Prior learning

It is helpful if children already know:

- how to speak audibly and clearly
- how to work with a talk partner.

New language

- Making simple statements (about name and age)
- Asking simple questions (about name and age)
- Simple greetings
- Numbers 1–10
- Chamar-se: eu and tu forms (eu) chamo-me, (tu) chamas-te
- Possessive adjective: meu
- Phonic focus: nh, ch, em, ã

Resources

- Maps, globes and atlases
- Flags to show on a class display where Portuguese is spoken
- Song to practise greetings
- Small mirrors
- Song Come a Papa Joana.
- Outlines of body shapes for language portraits
- DVD clip of children introducing themselves in Portuguese
- Images of a famous family, e.g. The Simpsons
- Picture and text cards for family members
- Digit cards, dice or number fans for numbers 1–10
- Resources for Bingo
- Song to practise numbers
- Picture of a birthday cake, balloon or card for a seven- or eight-year-old

Links with other subjects

Primary framework for literacy: speak with clarity; listen to others in class, ask relevant questions and follow instructions; listen to a talk by an adult, remember some specific points; read high- and medium-frequency words independently and automatically (Year 2)

Primary framework for mathematics: represent data as a pictogram (Year 2)

Geography: use of atlases; globes and maps at a range of scales; locate places

ICT: share and exchange information in a variety of forms

PSHCE: develop good relationships and respect differences between people; think about the lives of people living in other places, and people with different values and customs; appreciate that differences and similarities between people arise from a number of factors; listen to other people; play and work cooperatively

Expectations

At the end of this unit

most children will: understand about linguistic diversity in their class and that Portuguese is spoken in Portugal as well as elsewhere; greet others with confidence and understand the differences in social conventions when people greet each other; reply to the questions Como te chamas? and Quantos anos tens? present members of their family; understand and use numbers 1–10; begin to recognize and pronounce the sounds of Portuguese some children will not have made so much progress and will: respond to simple questions with support from a spoken model or visual clue; recognize numbers 1–10; discriminate sounds and identify meaning when items are repeated several times

some children will have progressed further and will: say and write short phrases from memory; have clear pronunciation; initiate conversations when working with partners; take part in speaking tasks of two or three exchanges; show understanding of a short written text containing familiar language

Links with work in English: The first activity links with year 2 work on listening – listening to a talk by an adult, remembering some specific points and identifying what they have learnt. The second activity links to year 1 work on group discussion and interaction, taking turns to speak and listening to others' contributions. Follow-up: Create a class display showing flags and locations of countries where Portuguese is spoken. Follow-up: Children use ICT to produce greetings in languages identified by the class for a display. Use lots of praise, e.g. Muito bem! (very good!) and Ótimo! (fantastic!). Follow-up: Give children opportunities to listen to songs or rhymes to practise the greetings. Follow-up: Take advantage of other opportunities during the week to greet children in Portuguese. Follow-up: Encourage children to answer the register in a language

Invite children to move around the class, shaking hands, giving a greeting and asking each other how they are. • Explain that in other languages we use different sounds. Ask children to practise the em sound. Explain that it is a nasal sound. Encourage them to listen to you as you say it, then make sure children practise saying it various times. • Teach senhor/senhora. Show a DVD clip of adults and children greeting each other in Portuguese. • Recap on the languages that you speak in order to introduce the idea of a language portrait. Use a blank outline of a body shape and model how you can colour it in to show the importance of these languages to you, e.g. 'I do my thinking in English, so I am colouring the head in blue. I know a little bit of French, so I'll colour the fingertips red. I speak Arabic with my grandmother, so I'll colour the heart yellow.' Label your portrait with the languages. • Children complete their own language portraits or make labels for the languages spoken by class members and add these to a world map. • Focus on the sound nh and create an action to imitate the sound, (e.g. moving your hand in a wavy line). Show the children a written word containing this sound (such as senhor and senhora), drawing attention to the nh. • At the end of the session wave goodbye and say Adeus. Make a display and invite visitors to the class to add theirs. • Follow-up: Produce a bar chart to show languages children speak or come into contact with. Children could use an appropriate graphics software package for this. • Follow-up: Answer the register with Bom dia senhor/senhora. • Follow-up: Create a class word bank using a display book with a different-coloured sheet for each sound. Include em and nh, and ask children to suggest words to go on each page, e.g. bem.

Share either your own name or the name of a member of your family. Explain why this was chosen. Discuss name 'fashions', e.g. what names are popular today and why? Replay the DVD clip to revise (Eu) chamo-me (I am called). Ask the question Como te chamas? (What's your name?) around the room, so that children can respond individually. Finish the session by waving and saying adeus (Goodbye). Children respond. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> understand and respond to Como te chamas? have an understanding that some Portuguese names may look the same as in English but sound different 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Grammar point: In Portuguese, the personal pronoun (eu, tu, etc) is used only for emphasis. It is not normally used in everyday speech. It is important that children learn to notice that it is the verb ending that indicates the subject of the verb. (Where included here, the personal pronoun is shown for your reference.) Grammar point: Explain that the ch sound in Portuguese sounds like the English sound sh (as in shoes). Grammar point: In Portuguese, some verbs are reflexive, meaning the subject acts upon itself. If the object of a verb refers to the same person as its subject, the verb is being used reflexively. For example chamo-me (I am called). Some children may respond to Como te chamas? by simply saying their name. Follow-up: Children can research the meaning of their own names. Follow-up: Combine text with graphics using clip art. Children find a suitable picture to illustrate Chamo-me (I am called). Alternatively they can take digital photos of each other to illustrate the text. Follow-up: Investigate popular first names in Portuguese-speaking countries.

Reinforce pronunciation by getting children to respond in different voice tones and speeds. Reinforce the sound-spelling link. Show the written form of eu chamo-me and ask the children which letters are making the initial sound in chamo. Can they work out the start of the word chamas? Practise pronunciation of ch and create a new page in the class word bank. Play a guessing game: One child sits with their back to the class and asks Como te chamas? Silently point to another child, who then disguises their voice and says Chamo-me + the wrong name. The first child says É...? (Is it ...?) The class chorus a response with Sim/Não, chamo-me ... (Yes/No, I am called ...) Using pictures of a famous family such as The Simpsons, point to one family member and say Bom dia, chamo-me ... (Good morning, I am called ...) Encourage the class to add the character's name by hesitating or by the tone of your voice. Repeat with the remaining pictures. Take on the role of one of the characters and list your family members, e.g. Chamo-me Lisa Simpson. Esta é a minha mãe, este é o meu pai, esta é a minha irmã, este é o meu irmão. (I am called Lisa Simpson. Here is my mother, here is my father, here is my sister, here is my brother.) Show the written form of the four family words as you say them. See if children can identify the ã sound in irmã and irmão. Discuss that it is a nasal vowel. Create a page for ã in the word bank. Play Toca no desenho (Touch the Picture). Place flashcards for the family members on the board. Divide the class into two teams. One child from each team comes to the board. Hold up a text card for one of the family members, e.g. minha irmã (my sister), and read it aloud. The first child to touch the correct picture wins a point for their team. Choose two new children for the next round. Extension: Play Kim's Game, Jogo da Maria (see 'Points to note') where children have cards for all the family members. Finish the session by waving and saying Adeus/Tchau. Children respond. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> understand the meaning of minha mãe, meu pai, minha irmã, meu irmão begin to use the structure Esta é a minha irmã, etc 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Link with work in English: The third activity links to year 1 work on group discussion and interaction – asking and answering questions. If your Portuguese lesson takes place in the afternoon, use Olá! (Hello!) or teach children Boa tarde (Good afternoon). Grammar point: 'Here is' followed by a masculine person or noun is Este é. For a feminine person or noun it is Esta é. Kim's Game, Jogo da Maria is a useful activity for helping children to learn new vocabulary. Here, they put their picture cards of family members face up on their table. They study them for a few seconds and then, at your signal, turn them over (but keeping them in the same order). Invite them to select from memory the card that you ask for and hold it to their chest until you say Mostrem-me (Show me). If they have guessed correctly, they put the card to one side. If they have not, they return the card face down, to the same place. The first child to have guessed them all correctly is the winner. You can invite the winner to come to the front and be the caller for the next round of the game. Kim's Game may also be done on an interactive whiteboard. Insert images of family members and cover

Follow-up: Try another guessing game. Invite two children to leave the room. The class choose an unusual name and one child volunteers to take this new name. The other two children return to the classroom. They have to find out who has the new name by asking Como te chamas? to individual children, who reply with Chamo-me + their name. This continues until the new name has been discovered. Follow-up: Play guessing games during the week to recall the words for family members. Phonic practise: Play the phoneme–grapheme running game to practise sounds nh, ch, em, â. This would be ideal as a PE warm-up. Place a card with a different letter string in each corner of the hall. The children jog around the hall. When a sound is called, they must move quickly to the corresponding card.

Introduce a number song for extra practise. In pairs, children practise numbers to six by taking turns throwing a die and saying the number. Dictate individual numbers to 10 and ask children to write them on mini-whiteboards. Play Bingo to reinforce numbers to 10.
